

BUILDERS & DEVELOPERS: DO YOU HAVE YOUR iCIRT RATING?

With the well-documented loss of confidence in the building industry, iCIRT ratings can help our valued clients position themselves as trustworthy and reliable contractors and developers.

Construction Legal provides specialist advice and detailed assistance with the supporting documents required for the iCIRT assessment process.

At Construction Legal, we have been collaborating with Equifax to guide and support their introduction of the independent construction industry star rating tool (iCIRT).

The iCIRT rating helps identify builders and developers with a proven track record and is an opportunity for those involved in the building industry to prove they can deliver safe, reliable, and compliant building outcomes.

We have assisted many clients with understanding the key factors involved in the iCIRT assessment process, and how to put their best foot forward with submissions to obtain their iCIRT “star” rating.

Collaboration with Equifax (the issuer of iCIRT)

Construction Legal has been nominated by Equifax (the issuer of iCIRT) to give specialist legal advice and assistance with the supporting documents required for the iCIRT assessment process. Given that our team has provided extensive guidance and support to Equifax’s implementation of the iCIRT program, we are well-equipped to guide and review the entire process for iCIRT applications to ensure that submissions and supporting documentation are properly prepared.

Ministerial Advisory Panel on NSW Building Reform

Our principal solicitor, Jessica Rippon, was appointed as a member of the NSW Ministerial Advisory Panel on NSW Building Reform and has worked tirelessly to enhance consumer protection relating to the construction of residential buildings in NSW, including collaborating with Equifax on the iCIRT program, and the implementation of Decennial Liability Insurance.

Jessica’s in-depth knowledge and experience in this area of building reform has enabled the team at Construction Legal to become experts at addressing any gaps and risks in our clients’ applications.
